GRENACHE

WINE NOTES

Growing grapes at Alder Springs Vineyard is a gambler's venture – at an elevation of 2,700 feet, it's one of the highest vineyards in California. Remote and rugged, it's also one of the most spectacular sites we've ever seen. Located just a few miles from the Pacific Ocean, this unique gem is isolated on incredibly steep terrain, yet ideally situated for producing luscious Grenache. There is a savory, wild character to our first Grenache that is as unbridled and pristine as the countryside that shaped it.
